Tips

What are the WebEx Productivity tools?

The WebEx Productivity tools include WebEx One-Click and integrations with other programs, such as Microsoft Outlook, IBM Lotus Notes, Microsoft Office, and instant messengers.

You can quickly schedule, start, or join online meetings using One-Click and the WebEx integrations.

How do I obtain WebEx Productivity tools?

If you do not have the WebEx Productivity tools installed on your computer, contact your system administrator to ensure that your Cisco Unified MeetingPlace profile has been set up for WebEx scheduling, and that the WebEx Productivity tools are enabled at your site.

Go to the Cisco WebEx Meeting Center and select Support > Download.

How do I reset my Profile PIN?

To reset your Profile PIN, sign in to Cisco WebEx and go to My WebEx > Personal Conferencing.

How do I synchronize my Cisco WebEx profile with my Cisco Unified MeetingPlace profile?

To synchronize changes you make to your Cisco WebEx audio settings to your Cisco Unified MeetingPlace profile, go to My WebEx > Personal Conferencing and select the Sync button under “Synchronize Account Settings Without Changing the Profile PIN.”

How do I start a meeting recording?

To start a meeting recording, you must be in the web meeting room. Once you are in the web meeting room, select the Record button to record the meeting.

How do I use video in a meeting?

You must be in the web meeting room for your video to work. In the web meeting room, your video works through your computer, either with a built-in camera or with an attached USB camera. In the web meeting room, you can select which video device you want to use. To start your video, click the video icon next to your name in the Participants list.

Note To use video in a WebEx meeting, make sure that you release the video camera by closing any applications that are already using video. If you are already in the WebEx meeting you may have to exit and then re-join the meeting.

How do I set up an alternate host for my meeting?

You can set up an alternate host for your meeting in Cisco WebEx and in Microsoft Outlook. Cisco WebEx meetings are started by the host or alternate host.

In Cisco WebEx:

Note Your WebEx address book (My WebEx > My Contacts) must contain contacts.

On the Cisco WebEx Schedule a Meeting page, select Use Address book next to the Attendees option. In the Select Attendees dialog, select one or more contacts and then select Alternate Host to invite the contact(s) as an alternate host. Select OK and the alternate host appears in the Attendees list on the Schedule a Meeting page. Complete your meeting invitation.

In Microsoft Outlook:

Open a new Appointment and add invitees. Then select Add WebEx Meeting. Select the Resources tab. In the Alternate host box, select the check box next to one or more names in the list. Select OK. Complete your meeting invitation.

How do I give another user permission to schedule a meeting for me?

- In WebEx Meeting Center, go to My WebEx > My Profile.
- or
- In Microsoft Outlook, from the toolbar select WebEx > Set Scheduling Permissions.

Under Session Options, click Select From Hosts List... . Select one or more email addresses and add them to the Scheduling permission field. The selected user(s) will then have permission to schedule a meeting on your behalf.

Note In Microsoft Outlook, also set up delegates and grant them access to your calendar.

Where can I find more information?

From Cisco WebEx Meeting Center: Select Support > User Guides or Support > Training.
