

Kim Majerus
General Manager, Cisco Ireland

As Cisco's General Manager of Ireland, Kim is responsible for the team covering many operations; including Sales, Engineering, Development, Capital, Advanced Services, Government Affairs and Finance.

As a Chicago native, Kim began her career at a leading telecoms provider in 1993 before joining Cisco's channel organisation in the US in 2000. Having been recognised as someone with a desire to extend her experience across other areas of the business Kim moved to Ireland in 2006 to lead the Network Integrator team for the UK & Ireland.

Kim is actively involved in Cisco's Development Forum, Mentoring Scheme as well as joining the Steering Committee for the Irish Parliament's Minister of Education's 'ICT in the Classroom'. She is also on the steering committee for the recently launched global initiative 'Your Country, Your Call', the competition to encourage innovative proposals that can help foster economic renewal in Ireland.

Under Kim's lead, Cisco Ireland was named as a Top 15 Places to work in Ireland in 2010 and Top 50 Places to Work in Ireland in 2009, Cisco also received a special recognition award for being one of the top three companies for embracing diversity.

Kim lives in Dublin with her husband and daughter.