Note

The 4GE SSM software configuration is included in the “Cisco ASA Series Documentation”; because the 4GE SSM is not an intelligent module, its configuration is part of the regular interface configuration.

Before you install any hardware, please read the Regulatory Compliance and Safety Information for your platform, listed in the “Hardware Documentation” section on page 2.”

Cisco ASA Series Documentation

This section lists the ASA series documentation. This section includes the CLI and GUI documentation for each version.

Note

ASDM 6.0 and later supports many ASA versions. We include the ASDM documentation with the ASA version when that version of ASDM was introduced; for example 8.4/6.4, 8.3/6.3, and so on. The ASDM documentation and online help includes all of the latest features supported by the ASA. If you are running an older version of ASA software, the documentation might include features that are not supported in your version. Similarly, if a feature was added into a maintenance release for an older ASA version, then the ASDM documentation includes the new feature even though that feature might not be available in all later ASA releases. Please refer to the feature history table for each configuration guide chapter to determine when features were added. For the minimum supported version of ASDM for each ASA version, see Cisco ASA Compatibility.

This section includes the following topics:

- ASA Version 8.5/ASDM Version 6.5 Documentation Set, page 4
- ASA Version 8.4/ASDM Version 6.4 Documentation Set, page 5
- ASA Version 8.3/ASDM Version 6.3 Documentation Set, page 5

Cisco Active Directory Agent

The Cisco Active Directory Agent runs as a separate application from the ASA. The Cisco Active Directory Agent is used as part of the Identity Firewall feature, which was released in the ASA 8.4 release.

The Identity Firewall feature provides more granular access control based on user identities. You can configure access control and security policies based on user names and groups rather than through source IP addresses. The ASA applies the security policies based on an association of IP addresses to Windows Active Directory login information and reports events based on the mapped user names instead of network IP addresses.

The Identity Firewall integrates with Window Active Directory in conjunction with an external Active Directory (AD) Agent that provides the actual identity mapping. The ASA uses Windows Active Directory as the source to retrieve the current user identity information for specific IP addresses.

Cisco CSC Module Documentation

The CSC SSM runs a separate application from the ASA. It is, however, integrated into the ASA traffic flow. To configure the CSC SSM, you need to configure both the ASA and the CSC SSM separately.

For hardware information see the “Hardware Documentation” section on page 2. To get started configuring the SSM for use with the ASA 5500, including sending traffic to the CSC SSM, see the ASDM or CLI configuration guide for your ASA version in the “Cisco ASA Series Documentation” section on page 3.

To configure CSC features on the CSC SSM operating system, see the following documentation:

Cisco IPS Module Documentation

The IPS module runs a separate application from the ASA. It is, however, integrated into the ASA traffic flow. To configure the IPS module, you need to configure both the ASA and the IPS module separately.

For hardware information see the “Hardware Documentation” section on page 2. To get started configuring the module for use with the ASA 5500, including sending traffic to the IPS module, see the ASDM or CLI configuration guide for your ASA version in the “Cisco ASA Series Documentation” section on page 3.

To configure IPS features on the IPS module operating system, see the following IPS documentation roadmaps:
