

Mark Kummer
Managing Director, UK SP Operations
Cisco UK & Ireland

As managing director of Cisco's service provider operations in the UK, Mark Kummer draws on over 20 years' experience in the telecommunications industry, advising service providers, broadcasters and web media companies on the technologies and services that will drive tomorrow's network experiences.

Mark joined Cisco in 1996, initially leading Cisco's BT account team, before taking over as Director of Service Provider Channels across EMEA.

He is active in the European Telecoms community and a director of The European Competitive Telecommunications Association (ECTA), the trade body that represents the regulatory & commercial interests of Internet Service Providers (ISPs) and "new entrant" service providers.

Mark holds BSc in Engineering from King's College & a MSc in Industrial Automation from Imperial College, London. He is married, has two teenage sons and lives in Surrey.
