

Scot Gardner
Director - Public Sector
Cisco UK & Ireland

Scot leads Cisco's extensive Public Sector organization across the UK and Ireland, helping central and local government bodies, education and healthcare providers harness their networks to drive more effective public services and ever richer citizen experiences.

After joining Cisco in 1997, Scot has held roles including sales management, business development, and, most recently, overall leadership of Cisco's UK financial services organisation.

Prior to joining Cisco, Scot's career included seven years at Esso, Coopers & Lybrand (now PricewaterhouseCoopers) and Madge Networks, a UK startup specialising in networking technologies.

Scot holds an M.Eng in Materials Engineering from Birmingham University, is married with two children and lives in Surrey.
