

Ricky Fun
Data Center Business Consultant,
Cisco Asia

Ricky Fun is the Data Center Business Consultant for Cisco Asia. He is responsible for growing the Cisco Data Center business for Asia. In his role conducts solution workshops & seminars for strategic customers to assess the applicability of Cisco solutions for specific customers computing environment.

Ricky Fun has 15 years of IT sales, consulting, professional services, management, support and operation experience with major MNCs such as Hewlett-Packard, Motorola & ,Hitachi Data System covering the government, financial, manufacturing and telecommunication industries. He has extensive experience in data center technologies such as storage virtualization, missioncritical computing, business continuity, backup & archive, enterprise systems and network management and data center operation.

Ricky has a Master of Technology Degree in Software Engineering and a Bachelors Degree in Electrical Engineering Degree from the National University of Singapore.

###