

Stephanie Ng

People-Centric Indirect Tax Accountant

Described As:

Friendly. Helpful. Energetic.

Languages Spoken:

English, Malay (she's from Malaysia), Mandarin, Cantonese, and Hokkien.

What She Likes About Working At Cisco:

The fact that the human touch is always there. The energetic, fast-paced workplace, where people get things done quickly. The flexible culture and work hours, as her most productive time is from 11 p.m. to 2 a.m.

Co-Workers Would Be Surprised To Know:

She's really a "couch potato," and can watch dramatic television shows from Hong Kong, Korea, and the U.S. for 7-10 hours straight on a good day.

Importance Of Diversity:

It enables a company to go global, and sell products and services to different people with different needs.

Last Vacation:

To Macao, "casino heaven," where she found an easy, "cash-out" slot machine.

Philosophy Of Life:

Whenever there's an issue, and you're in a room full of people, always find a solution and look for other alternatives. Never finger-point to the person who caused the problem.

Looks Forward To:

Seeing her family in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, on alternate weekends. Also, seeking the opportunity to do volunteering work in Singapore and other Asia-Pacific countries.