

Aron Dutta

Senior Director, Global Head, Financial Markets Strategy
Cisco Internet Business Solutions Group

Aron Dutta is a senior director and head of financial markets strategy for the Financial Services Practice of the Cisco® Internet Business Solutions Group (IBSG), the company's global consultancy. Dutta collaborates with the global capital markets, working with financial services institutions worldwide. He helps Cisco, its customers, and its partners develop new business models to meet the world's rapidly shifting economic landscape, identifying emerging ecosystems and investment and growth opportunities.

Dutta, who was one of the original developers of the computerized trading mechanism that runs the world's financial engines today, is a frequent speaker at financial conferences. He is also responsible for thought leadership geared to financial and capital markets, looking ahead to see how trends will develop and determining how they will impact Cisco's financial services customers.
