

Angus Hislop

Director, European Banking, Financial Services Practice,
Internet Business Solutions Group

Angus Hislop is a director of the European banking sector for the Financial Service Practice of the Cisco Internet Business Solutions Group (IBSG). Supported by colleagues in each of the main countries of Europe, Africa, and the Middle East, he is responsible for helping customers make the most of their investments in network solutions by bringing to them best-practice solutions from the experience of Cisco and its banking customers.

Hislop joined Cisco in 2003 from IBM's Business Consulting Services practice (formerly PwC Consulting), where he was a senior partner in financial services. As a leader in the global banking practice, he was responsible for large accounts such as Barclays, AXA, and Nordea. Hislop is a frequent conference speaker and guest on CNBC business programs. He has worked with banks in most European countries and speaks several languages. Prior to joining PwC, Hislop worked with Hill Samuel Bank as an economist.

Hislop holds a degree in economics from Cambridge University and a master's degree in European Studies from the College d'Europe in Belgium.
