Public Services Summit 2008

Building Sustainable Prosperity from Opportunity to Reality

Sustainability, Innovation & Inclusion.

Session Outline

Lack of co-ordination is a major obstacle to growth for many emerging countries. There are plans and opportunities, but governments struggle to find scalable solutions that will deliver sustainable prosperity. All too often work is duplicated - different organisations address the same issue without communicating with each one or even knowing what the others are doing. This leads to missed opportunities, wasted investment and slow, or even no, progress.

This session will explore how partnership co-ordination is being tackled in different countries. It will look at specific case studies drawn from across the globe, including one where the processes used were packaged into a replicable business model. The session will be interactive and focus on sharing positive experiences, so participants can tackle the issue of co-ordination both internally and with stakeholders such as funding agencies and NGOs.
