Changes in Behavior in Previous Hot Patches

Change in Behavior for Hot Patch 4

While configuring listeners, you can now specify whether to accept or reject a message based on the subject size. If you configure this parameter, any messages having subject size within the specified limit are accepted and any other messages are rejected.

Note

By default, messages having subject size greater than 1 MB are rejected. If you do not want this behavior, set the value to zero.

---

You can configure this parameter by:

- (Web interface) Editing Global Settings on Listener page.
- (CLI) Using `setup` option under `listenerconfig` command.

Change in Behavior for Hot Patch 3

While configuring the behavior of body and attachment scanning (Security Services > Scan Behavior), you can specify whether to consider a ZIP file unscannable if the files in the archive are unreadable. For more information, see Cisco AsyncOS for Email User Guide.

Upgrade Path

You can upgrade to release 8.5.6-116 from the following version:

- 8.5.6-113
- 8.5.6-106

Resolved Issues

Click a Defect ID in the table for more information about the defect.

Defect ID	Description
CSCuq71053	OOXML files with non-standard file order are mis-detected as zip files
