

BIO OF PETER NIKOLETATOS

CHIEF INFORMATION OFFICER AT CURTIN UNIVERSITY OF TECHNOLOGY

Peter Nikolettatos is currently the Chief Information Officer (CIO) of Curtin University of Technology and has more than 25 years experience in the ICT industry in Australia and overseas. Over the years, he has held several senior appointments including IT Manager for I-MED (Radiology), National Manager eBusiness for Computer Sciences Corporation (CSC), and more recently the CIO of the University of Newcastle.

Peter holds a fellowship with the Australian Institute of Project Managers, is a member of the Australian Institute of Company Directors and the Australian Institute of Management. In 2008, he served on two boards; INTERSECT and NUSPORT whilst CIO at the University of Newcastle. In 2009, he became a member of the CAUDIT-EDUCAUSE Institute.

Peter's experience has been a valuable asset in helping develop the University's capacity to integrate next generation teaching and learning, research support and improvements to corporate services. Peter has a particular interest in ICT strategy and its relationship to research and next generation teaching and learning. He has worked closely with many of the leading global vendors to help shape ICT strategy at Curtin University.

Peter has also presented at a number of conferences on topics ranging from Effective IT Governance; Managing Change, Emerging Trends and Technologies and Identity and Access Management. He is also currently undertaking doctoral research focusing on the impact of emerging trends and technologies on education and research.

Peter holds a Bachelor of Business from the University of Newcastle, 1996, Masters of Education Studies (University of Newcastle) 1998, Graduate Diploma in Law (Southern Cross University) 2004, and is currently working towards his PhD.

He is married with two children and has completed five Ironman Triathlon's, is a keen cyclist, and a life member of Hippocrates Australian/Greek Aged Persons Association.