

Colin Allkin
General Legal Counsel, Cisco South Africa

Colin Allkin has been a qualified Attorney for the past 22 years. Of these 22 years, he has been General Legal Counsel to Cisco Systems South Africa for the past eight years.

Previously, he was a Partner in the Corporate and Company Law Department at a prominent South African law firm. He is also qualified as an English solicitor and practiced law in London for six years.

He obtained his Bachelor of Laws degree at the University of Cape Town. In addition to his law degree, he also holds a Higher Diploma in Taxation (H. Dip. Tax).

His interests include both road and mountain biking and has completed several multi-day mountain biking events as well as adventure motor-cycling.

Allkin is married with two teenage children.