

End-of-Sale and End-of-Life Announcement for the Cisco TelePresence Exchange 1.1 on IBM MCS Server

EOL9000

Cisco announces the end-of-sale and end-of-life dates for the Cisco TelePresence Exchange 1.1 on IBM MCS Server. The last day to order the affected product(s) is July 29, 2013. Customers with active service contracts will continue to receive support from the Cisco Technical Assistance Center (TAC) as shown in Table 1 of the EoL bulletin. Table 1 describes the end-of-life milestones, definitions, and dates for the affected product(s). Table 2 lists the product part numbers affected by this announcement. For customers with active and paid service and support contracts, support will be available under the terms and conditions of customers' service contract.

Cisco will continue to support the base CTX 1.1 software but is migrating to a virtualized product in the 1.2 version. The Cisco TelePresence Exchange 1.2 base software package will be sold only as a virtualized platform that can be deployed as a virtual machine. Version 1.2 adds key capabilities and improvements that allow for a simpler licensing structure, further described below in the Product Migration section.

Existing customers who have purchased the Cisco TelePresence Exchange base software prior to 1.2 (1.1 and earlier) will be able to upgrade to the 1.2 version on their existing IBM-based MCS servers. Since no new IBM MCS systems are supported, we are announcing the end of sale for the CTX-SERVER product. Any new system deployments moving forward will be R1.2 virtualized systems.

Product Migration Options

We are announcing the end-of-sale of the Cisco TelePresence Exchange Server hardware (product identification number CTX-SERVER) that was based on the IBM MCS Server platform.

The Cisco TelePresence Exchange 1.2 version will bundle the direct-dial and interop functionality as part of the base software. Hence the CTX-SIP-*** products and the CTX-SD-IOP product will be retired as they will no longer be needed. The 1.2 version base software will now be available in two forms, CTX-SW-FULL and the starter package for the product, which will be available with CTX-SW-STARTER. The older CTX-SW product will no longer be sold as a result.
