

Question:

Why do I see multiple MIDs associated with a given DCID on ESA?

Answer:

It is normal to deliver multiple messages on a given DCID. The ESA will gather messages for a destination domain into a sort of delivery-queue for that domain. When a connection is made to one of the servers for that domain, the ESA will deliver up to 50 messages from that delivery-queue on the DCID.

Updated: Aug 20, 2014

Document ID: 118313
