More Information

Cisco encourages you to participate in studies conducted by the Network Management Technology Group (NMTG) user experience team.

- Why Participate? Signing up for the Cisco Prime User Group registers you in our user feedback database, and gives you the opportunity to tell our product developers what you think about our network management products. You provide the information we need to improve our software and provide you with a better user experience.
- Our Research Activities. The Cisco Prime user experience team conducts a wide variety of research studies, including surveys, site visits, user interviews (phone or live), and usability tests (conducted in person or over WebEx sessions). We provide a small gift or compensation when you participate in any of these activities.
- Contact. If you have questions about our research activities, please contact us by sending email to: nmtg-ux-research@cisco.com
